DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 1-10 are rejected as failing to define the invention in the manner required by 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph.

The claim(s) are narrative in form and replete with indefinite and functional or operational language. The structure which goes to make up the device must be clearly and positively specified. The structure must be organized and correlated in such a manner as to present a complete operative device. The claim(s) must be in one sentence form only. Note the format of the claims in the patent(s) cited.

It is unclear to the Examiner if the language used in Claims 1-10 is being used to claim structure of the invention, how the invention is used, how the invention is made, or some combination thereof.

Several limitations are put in quotes, such as "small legs" and "hinge" plate. It is unclear to the Examiner whether the words in quotes are requirements of the structure or are simply names for the structure.

Several words in the claims, for example "small" and "few millimeters" are relative terms which renders the claim indefinite. The terms are not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

It is unclear to the Examiner what constitutes an "almost rectangular hole."

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. The Examiner can not determine how frame (10) is attached to the rest of the structure. The claims call for rotation about hole (11) but it is unclear from the drawings and specification where frame 10 attaches to other frame members and how it can rotate about hole 11.

The Examiner can not determine how the apparatus is put together. Claims require "only six bolts for the whole assembly." It is unclear how only six bolts are needed. How is 6 connected to the small legs?

The Examiner can not determine how to structure in Figure 7A-10 relates to the structure shown in Figures 1-7A. Where is 15 shown in the earlier Figures? Is the top frame shown in Figures 7A-10 analogous to frame 10 shown in the other Figures?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Roma (U.S. Patent 6,061,848).

Regarding Claims 1-10 as best understood, Roma shows a back frame (at 18), long legs, and short legs. Roma further discloses a rectangular cross-member (at 14) that is in a rectangular hole. The opposing cross member will act as a cam surface for moving members to rest upon, and therefore follow. Roma further discloses a backrest section that can be adjusted. Roma does not specifically disclose that only six screws are needed. However, one of ordinary skill in the art would have recognized that lowering the number of screws needed would lower manufacturing costs and make it easier for a user to assemble the futon.
